Child requires facial reconstruction after dog attack in Carriere last week

BY ELLIS C. CUEVAS
Publisher Emeritus

At least four people in Hancock County claimed to be injured in dog attacks within a five-day period last week, according to Hancock County Chief Investigator Kenny Hurt.

The most serious incident occurred June 3, Peterson's Cemetery Road in Carriere, when a young child was bitten, Hurt said.

"The youngster was first taken to Pearl River County for treatment, then transferred to Forrest General Hospital in Hattiesburg for facial restoration surgery," Hurt said.

Lt. Phillip Pavolini responded to the Carriere incident.

Hurt said that "On May 30, A young child was taken to Hancock Medical Center after being bitten on the right leg, middle of calf by a mixed-breed (dog).

"This occurred in Shoreline Park by a mixed breed Lab and Chow," Hurt said, adding that Deputy Harold Hirsch handled the investigation.

On Fiber Street off Blue Meadow Road in Bay St. Louis, on Wednesday, a youngster was bitten on the left ankle and an adult on the right ankle.

Hurt said a mother was jogging while one child was on a scooter and a second one on a bicycle. "A large dog bit the mother and kid on the scooter."

Deputy Push Phillips investigated that incident. Also on Wednesday June 3, Lt. Pavolini investigated a report of a complaint of chickens being killed by dogs at a CC Road, Kiln residence.

"The woman claimed the six roosters killed were mixed fighting chickens and worth $500 each," Hurt said.

Hurt warned all dog owners to properly restrain their animals.

"I have never seen so many dog complaints in such a short time," Hurt said.

Library migrates to internet service

THE SEA COAST ECHO

Horizon, the Hancock County Library System's new library management system will be available to the public on June 9.

On June 7 and 8, the library system will be on a backup computer while the databases and catalog are transferred from the current Dynix system to the new Horizon.

During the migration period, library staff will make every effort to minimize any inconvenience. However, customers should be aware that some library services may be temporarily disrupted.

Via the library system's home page (www.hancock.lib.ms.us), customers can access the Horizon Information Portal (HIP) 24 hours a day, seven days a week from home, school or work. There, they can search, select, renew and place requests for books and other materials.

The graphically rich Horizon contains colorful book covers, book summaries, reviews and recommendations of similar titles. A Kid's Pac uses picture icons for subject searches. Grade level information about resources is available to students and teachers.

Future phases of Horizon include telephone and email notification service, and additional online research resources.

The Horizon project is funded by a federal Institute of Museum and Libraries grant. The Library Services and Technology Act Grant is administered through the Mississippi Library Commission. The Leo Seal Family Foundation provided matching funds through the Library Foundation of Hancock County.

State Shrimp Season opens June 9

THE SEA COAST ECHO

The Mississippi Department of Marine Resources (DMR) has approved the opening of shrimp season in Mississippi waters for Wednesday, June 9, 2004, at 6 a.m. This action is being taken following four weeks of intensive shrimp sampling in Mississippi waters.

The legal minimum size for shrimp in Mississippi is 68 shrimp per pound. This minimum average size is used as a standard for determining the opening date. Certain areas may be closed to shrimping activity if sampling indicates that a large number of small shrimp have moved into a particular area.

All regulations set forth in ordinances of the DMR are to be in full force and effect, and all boats engaged in catching or transporting shrimp in or from the waters of Mississippi must be legally licensed.

Cuevas' Quotes

by Ellis C. Cuevas

Now you're cookin' with HMC

A wonderful cookbook - one right hot off the press - is titled "Cooking with HMC."

It contains a collection of more than 650 recipes from employees, physicians, physicians office staff, and volunteers of Hancock Medical Center.

The front cover features artwork by artist Ray Stieffel of Bay St. Louis.

Recipes include: appetizers & beverages, soups & salads, vegetables & side dishes, main dishes, breads & rolls, desserts, cookies & candy, and this and that.

A Cookbook Committee of seven HMC employees came up with the idea of the book and Hancock Medical Center's Foundation will benefit from the proceeds.

Copies of the cookbooks are available at Hancock Medical Center for $15 each.

Or, you can order by sending a $17 check made payable to Hancock Medical Center Foundation, 140 Drinkwater Blvd., Bay St. Louis, MS 39520. ($2 is for shipping).

These cookbooks are very well designed and make beautiful gifts.

Area youngsters should be preparing for the 7th annual James Kelly, Sr., Memorial Fishing Rodeo.

The kids-of-all-ages fishing rodeo is sponsored by Sons of the American Legion Squadron 77 of Waveland.

The event is scheduled for Saturday, June 12, 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. when the scales will close.

There will be trophies and prizes, according to Billy Adams.

Registration will begin at 8 a.m. on the day of the fishing rodeo.

Fishing will take place on the Garfield Ladner Memorial Pier only and parents are encouraged to attend. There will be no pier fees for participants, Adams said.

All size regulations must be honored on speckled trout, flounder and redfish, etc.

The young fishers will be trying to catch the largest speckled trout, redfish, croaker, white trout, etc.

It is always a thrill to see a youngster catch his or her first fish.

Best of luck to all anglers.

One of the areas of discussions along the Mississippi Gulf Coast is the closing of railroad crossings across the coastal area.

An open letter to Americans ...

BY DR. TONY KERN,
LT COL, USAF (RET)

Recently, I was asked to look at the recent events through the lens of military history. I have joined the cast of thousands who have written an "open letter to Americans."

Dear friends and fellow Americans: September 2001.

Like everyone else in this great country, I am reeling from last week's attack on our sovereignty. But unlike some, I am not reeling from surprise.

As a career soldier and a student and teacher of military history, I have a different perspective and I think you should hear it. This war will be won or lost by the American citizens, not diplomats, politicians or soldiers.

Let me briefly explain.

In spite of what the media, and even our own government is telling us, this act was not committed by a group of mentally deranged fanatics. To dismiss them as such would be among the gravest of mistakes. This attack was committed by a ferocious, intelligent and dedicated adversary. Don't take this the wrong way. I don't admire these men and I deplore their tactics, but I respect their capabilities.

The many parallels that have been made with the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor are apropos. Not only because it was a brilliant sneak attack against a complacent America, but also because we may well be pulling our new adversaries out of caves 30 years after we think this war is over, just like my father's generation had to do with the formidable Japanese in the years following WW II.

These men hate the United States with all of their being, and we must not underestimate the power of their moral commitment. Napoleon, perhaps the world's greatest combination of soldier and statesman, stated: "the moral is to the physical as three is to one." Patton thought the Frenchman underestimated its importance and said moral conviction was five times more important in battle than physical strength. Our enemies are willing - better said anxious -- to give their lives for their cause.

How committed are we America? And for how long?

In addition to demonstrating great moral conviction, the recent attack demonstrated a mastery of some of the basic fundamentals of warfare taught to most military officers worldwide, namely simplicity, security and surprise.

When I first heard rumors that some of these men may have been trained at our own Air War College, it made perfect sense to me. This was not a random act of violence, and we can expect the same sort of military competence to be displayed in the battle to come.

This war will escalate, with a good portion of it happening right here in the good ol' U.S. of A.

These men will not go easily into the night. They do not fear us. We must not fear them. In spite of our overwhelming conventional strength as the world's only "superpower" (a truly silly term), we are the underdog in this fight.

As you listen to the carefully scripted rhetoric designed to prepare us for the march for war, please realize that America is not equipped or seriously trained for the battle ahead.

To be certain, our soldiers are much better than the enemy, and we have some excellent "counter-terrorist" organizations, but they are mostly trained for hostage rescues, airfield seizures, or the occasional "body snatch," (which may come in handy). We will be fighting a war of annihilation, because if their early efforts are any indication, our enemy is ready and willing to die to the last man.

Eradicating the enemy will be costly and time consuming. They have already deployed their forces in as many as 20 countries, and are likely living the lives of everyday citizens. Simply put, our soldiers will be tasked with a search and destroy mission on multiple foreign landscapes, and the public must be patient and supportive until the strategy and tactics can be worked out.

For the most part, our

Tort Reform bill passes in Mississippi

Speaker Pro Temp of the Mississippi House of Representatives, Rep. J. P. Compretta contacted the Hancock Chamber only minutes after the House passed HB 13 Tort Reform Bill.

"At 2:19pm today (Thursday, June 3)," he said, "the House passed meaningful tort reform for the State of Mississippi." Compretta, who co-authored the bill said when he met with the Governor yesterday, Barbour implied he would sign the bill into law. The House concurred to Senate amendments to HB 13 and passed the bill 76 for with 38 against. Among other things HB 13 provides:

- $1 million in caps on non-economic damages for general liability cases ($500,000 for medical malpractice cases);
- improves punitive damage language;
- provides a fairer approach to where a case may be tried;
- apportions damages

based on actual fault, rather than ability to pay;

- provides protections for innocent sellers of products.

To read a copy of the bill: <http://billstatus.ls.state.ms.us>.

Compretta said the special session will continue to allow consideration other issues including re-enacting the Department of Human Services; and, reviewing the Medicaid Law where 65,000 receipts will be taken off the rolls on July 1.

military is still in the process of redefining itself and presided over by men and women who grew up with - and were promoted because they excelled in - Cold War doctrine, strategy and tactics.

This will not be linear warfare, there will be no clear "centers of gravity" to strike with high technology weapons. Our vast technological edge will certainly be helpful, but it will not be decisive.

Perhaps the perfect metaphor for the coming battle was introduced by the terrorists themselves aboard the hijacked aircraft - this will be a knife fight, and it will be won or lost by the ingenuity and will of citizens and soldiers, not by software or smart bombs. We must also be patient with our military leaders.

Unlike Americans who are eager to put this messy time behind us, our adversaries have time on their side, and they will use it. They plan to fight a battle of attrition, hoping to drag the battle out until the American public loses its will to fight. This might be difficult to believe in this euphoric time of flag waving and patriotism, but it is generally acknowledged that America lacks the stomach for a long fight.

We need only look as far back as Vietnam, when North Vietnamese General Vo Nguyen Giap (also a military history teacher) defeated the United States of America without ever winning a major tactical battle. American soldiers who marched to war cheered on by flag waving Americans in 1965 were reviled and spat upon less than three years later when they returned.

Although we hope that Usama Bin Laden is no Giap, he is certain to understand and employ the concept. We can expect not only large doses of pain like the recent attacks, but also less audacious "sand in the gears" tactics, ranging from livestock infestations to attacks at water supplies and power distribution facilities.

These attacks are designed to hit us in our "comfort zone" forcing the average American to "pay more and play less" and eventually eroding our resolve. But it can only work if we let it. It is clear to me that the will of the American citizenry - you and I - is the center of gravity the enemy has targeted.

It will be the fulcrum upon which victory or defeat will turn. He believes us to be soft, impatient, and self-centered. He may be right, but if so, we must change.

The Prussian general Carl von Clausewitz, (the most often quoted and least read military theorist in history), says that there is a "remarkable trinity of war" that is composed of the (1) will of the people, (2) the political leadership of the government, and (3) the chance and probability that plays out on the field of battle, in that order.

Every American citizen was in the crosshairs of last Tuesday's attack, not just those that were unfortunate enough to be in the World Trade Center or Pentagon. The will of the American people will decide this war. If we are to win, it will be because we have what it takes to persevere through a few more hits, learn from our mistakes, improvise, and adapt. If we can do that, we will eventually prevail.

Everyone I've talked to in the past few days has shared a common frustration, saying in one form or another "I just wish I could do something!" You are already doing it. Just keep faith in America, and continue to support your President and military, and the outcome is certain.

If we fail to do so, the outcome is equally certain. God Bless America will be folks who will object to the action.

It is interesting to note that Harrison County is rated number three in the nation in the nation for railway fatalities.

A lot of changes have taken place along the Mississippi Gulf Coast since the Louisville Nashville Railroad (L&N) crossed the area prior to 1870.

For sure train speeds have increased tremendously and populations have also grown tremendously.

Since I was raised only a couple blocks from the Nicholson Avenue crossing in Waveland, I can recall back in about 1940 when Mrs. Liberton was killed by a train at that intersection.

The railroad played a very important part in the economic development along the Mississippi Gulf Coast. Many local families depended on the railroad for employment, when there really was much more than timber, farming and fishing as work possibilities.

Time changes, the way things are done sometimes has to change and safety is a very big issue.

Hopefully, an agreeable solution will be found on the railroad crossing closures in Hancock, Harrison and Jackson Counties.

It is good to see resurfacing work resumed on the streets of Bay St. Louis.

I am glad to see the contractor grinding down some of the roads to be resurfaced too.

The roads in the Bay were getting very rough in some areas.

Motorists need to remember to be patient and try to avoid the streets being repaired during the resurfacing project.

While on the subject of roads, have you noticed how nice Drinkwater Road by Hancock General rides now since the contractor has placed the final topping.

It was sure a long wait for the project to be completed, but, it appears that we have a fine road now.

'Adopt A Cat Month'

June is national "Adopt A Cat Month" and in keeping with this Friends of the Animal Shelter in Hancock County announces the "50/50 cat adoption plan." FRIENDS will pay fifty percent of the sixty-five dollar adoption fee for the first fifty cats or kittens adopted from the Waveland Animal Shelter throughout the month of June.

Statistics show that fewer cats are adopted from the shelter than dogs and the euthanasia rate for cats can be as much as 85%.

Each pet adopted from the shelter will be spayed or neutered, microchipped, comes with the first set of shots, a worming, flea bath, free vet check and free rabies shot. Please consider opening your heart and home to one of the many beautiful cats that are brought to the shelter each day.

Mississippi Senior Olympics: Bay man wins 4 silver medals

BY TATE RAMSEY
Bob Davis of Bay St. Louis won second place (Silver) medals in four of the five bicycling events in the Mississippi Senior Olympics. The Senior Olympics are held each year in Raymond on the campus of the Hinds County Community College. This year's Olympics ran from June 2 through 5 and included nearly every imaginable event including track and field, basketball, chess, checkers, ping pong, tennis, golf, badminton, and shuffleboard. Age categories start at 50 and go up from there in 5-year increments. Davis competed in the 65 to 69 age group.

Davis' silver medals were won in the 20 kilometer road race, the 10 kilometer and 5 kilometer time trials, and the one-mile sprint. He elected not to do the 40 kilometer road race, the very first event, because the course was quite hilly, and he thought riding the 40 kilometers would tire him out too much for the other events. "All of my training has been on the flat terrain of the gulf coast. Even riding against our strong coastal winds didn't prepare me for those Hinds county hills," he noted.
Davis commented that the competition was definately stronger this year than in the 2001 Olympics when he won gold medals in all five cycling events. That was no doubt because 2004 is a qualifying year for the National Senior Olympics to be held in Pittsburgh, PA, next year. Davis is not sure if his second place finishes qualify him for the Nationals, but he does not expect to go to Pittsburgh even if he does qualify. "Too many hills," he said.

UM's Head claims inaugural Ferriss Award at Mississippi Sports Hall of Fame

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II
Staff Writer

Ole Miss' LHP/1B Stephen Head was named the winner of the Ferriss Award at the Mississippi Sports Hall of Fame on Monday, May 17th.
The lefty beat out two other finalists, for the first ever annual award presented to Mississippi's top collegiate baseball player.
Head, a 6-3 sophomore from Raymond, currently has a .360 average with 11 homeruns and 47 RBIs. On the mound, he has a 6-1 record with a 2.43 ERA which is fifth in the SEC.
Head is the anchor for the #10-ranked Rebels (38-15) who will play LSU in the final SEC series of the season May 21-23. The Rebels enter the series with a shot to claim their first regular season SEC championship since the league expanded to 12 teams in 1992.
The other two finalists were Mississippi State sophomore Brad Corley and USM junior Jarrett Hoffpauir.

Corley, an outfielder from Louisville, KY, currently leads the SEC in total bases and tied for the league lead in homeruns with 16. He is batting .361 at the plate for MSU (31-22).
Hoffpauir, a junior at second base from Vidalia, LA, is batting .392 for the Golden Eagles (39-13) with 7 homeruns and 70 RBIs.
The Ferriss Award is named for Shaw, MS native and former MSU standout Dave "Boo" Ferriss. After his stellar major league career with the Boston Red Sox ended, he became a highly successful coach for Delta State University in Cleveland. He was inducted into the Boston Red Sox Hall of Fame in 2002 and is a member of the Mississippi Sports Hall of Fame.
The three finalists and the eventual winner are determined by a panel of Major League scouts working the state of Mississippi.

Bay St. Louis Little Theatre & The Arts - Hancock County present 'Please, Take Your Seat Gala'

Friday, June 25, 2004 - Casino Magic Bay St. Louis

This year, the Bay St. Louis Little Theatre (BSLLT) was selected by the Mississippi Arts Commission as the recipient of a $37,000 matching grant to support a much-needed renovation of this historic community treasure.

To access these funds, the Hancock County community needs to raise close to $25,000 as a match grant.

This proposed renovation is part of a two-phase plan that will help BSLLT continue to provide quality theatrical services on a non-profit basis for the education and entertainment of the community to delight the senses, challenge the mind, and uplift the spirit.

"Already, so many have come forward to assist in this project like Casino Magic Bay St. Louis, and the theatre's annual patrons and members," said Scott Darrah, President of BSLLT. "Through the generosity of many, we are pleased to report that close to half of these needed funds have already been raised. To complete this campaign, we need support from businesses and individuals who believe in the economic and social importance of the Arts to this community," he said.

The Arts-Hancock County is partnering with the BSLLT to host a special fundraising event called "Please, Take Your Seat Gala" on Friday, June 25 at Casino Magic Bay St. Louis. This event begins at 6pm with a Preview Champagne Reception, followed by dinner and a silent auction at 7pm with dancing at 8pm. This event is unique because more than 20 local artists have given of their time and talent to turn original chairs from the Theatre into one-of-a-kind works of art. Each artist features one of the plays performed at the Little Theater over the past 50 years. These priceless chairs will be on auction during the Gala.

"This is a once in a lifetime project," said Gwen Impson, President of The Arts-Hancock County. Impson said 23 chairs from the historic Bay St. Louis Little Theatre have been transformed by 23 local artists into unique works of art.

Each artist has used their talent and ingenuity to create one-of-a-kind works of art based on plays once performed on the Little Theatre stage. The pieces range from fabulous to funky and from precious to pretentious.

The plays were the inspiration...the chairs were the basis...and the artwork has taken on an entirely new form---combining paint, wood, clay, paper, photos, tiles, fabric, beads and lots of imagination. Results are anything but ordinary. "Come see for yourself." Participating Artists include:

† Scott Blackwell - multi-media artist - COME BLOW YOUR HORN
† Barbara & John Boos - painting partners - ARSENIC AND OLD LACE
† Kathy Calhoun - multi-media artist - MAME
† Regan Carney & Mark Buszkiewicz - clay sculptors - THE HOBBIT

Tables of ten are available, and individual tickets start at $50. The public is invited to support Hancock County's only community theatre when BSLLT and The Arts-Hancock County bring it all together, together. For more information and to reserve tickets and tables, contact: 467-9048.

This project is supported by: Casino Magic Bay St. Louis - Mississippi Arts Commission - The Arts-Hancock County, Mississippi - Bay St. Louis Little Theatre, and the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce. Net proceeds from this event will be allocated as follows: 75% to benefit the Bay St. Louis Little Theatre Building Fund, a fund of a 501 (c) 3 organization; and 25% to benefit The Arts-Hancock County, a fund of the Gulf Coast Community Foundation.

Mississippi deep-water crab trap closure, cleanup set for this week

The Mississippi Department of Marine Resources (DMR) will hold its 2004 closed season for crab traps and crab pots in deep waters outside one-half mile of the shoreline, beginning June 9, 2004 at 6 a.m. and ending June 16, 2004 at 6 a.m.

Any crab trap or crab pot remaining during the area closure will be considered derelict and subject to removal.

DMR will remove these derelict traps in cooperation with Gulf Coast Research Laboratory (GCRL) staff members throughout the closure period and will recycle the crab traps at a local facility.

During the scheduled closure, crabs may not be harvested from any crab trap or crab pot in the closed area and crabs must be returned to the water during trap removal.

"The bays and rivers have been cleaned rather successfully over the last few years," said DMR Shrimp and Crab Bureau Director Mike Brainard.

"This is the first deep-water closure in Mississippi and allows the DMR to concentrate removal efforts on the open waters of the Mississippi Sound."

Only licensed shrimpers will be allowed to remove traps from this deep-water area (outside one-half mile of the shoreline) during this area closure.

The Derelict Crab Trap Removal Program, a joint effort of the DMR and GCRL, is funded by a Coastal Impact Assistance Program (CIAP) grant administered by the Mississippi Department of Environmental Quality (MDEQ). The CIAP is a federally sponsored program that provides funding for addressing statewide coastal issues. Additional funding is provided by the NOAA Community Based Restoration Program.

The Mississippi Department of Marine Resources is dedicated to enhancing, protecting and conserving marine interests of the State by managing all marine life, public trust wetlands, adjacent uplands and waterfront areas to provide for the optimal commercial, recreational, educational and economic uses of these resources consistent with environmental concerns and social changes.

Mississippi shrimp season opens Wednesday, June 9

The Mississippi Department of Marine Resources (DMR) has approved the opening of shrimp season in Mississippi waters for Wednesday, June 9, 2004, at 6 a.m.

This action is being taken following four weeks of intensive shrimp sampling in Mississippi waters.

The legal minimum size for shrimp in Mississippi is 68 shrimp per pound. This minimum average size is used as a standard for determining the opening date. Certain areas may be closed to shrimping activity if sampling indicates that a large number of small shrimp have moved into a particular area.

All regulations set forth in ordinances of the DMR are to be in full force and effect, and all boats engaged in catching or transporting shrimp in or from the waters of Mississippi must be legally licensed.

These Diamondhead, MS pilots got together and performed a "Missing Man" fly-by during Memorial Day services at the Diamondhead Country Club. A pilot and a co-pilot in each of three airplanes flew over the Country Club during the reading of names of Coast service members who gave their lives for their country. The ceremony also honored Wendell Durr, one of Diamondhead's active aviation mentors, who died in a recent airplane crash. Pictured from left to right are pilots Bob Sell, Don Johnson, Mario Feola, Brent Farnsworth, Tony Vaz and Bill Yordy. Pete Fritzscheing assisted the flight as ground controller. The pilots used their own aircraft to perform this impressive fly-by.

1964: County gets $410K for roads lost to test site

Back in Time

TEN YEARS AGO

June 2, 1994 - Developers who had planned a $100 million casino complex on Interstate 10 and Highway 603 have let their options lapse on a 600-acre tract for the development in Hancock County. One of the developers, David R. Belding said Sunday the, "Mississippi Landing" idea has been dropped. Its investors are devoting their efforts, instead, to winning approval of two-casino complexes on the Bay of St. Louis.

The Hancock County Courthouse Committee has "more or less given up" of the idea of modifying the courthouse to meet existing and future demands for space. Instead committee chairman Paul Vegas said Tuesday he and committee member Dave McDonald have been asked to scout around Bay St. Louis for some property to buy or lease, to satisfy courthouse needs until a new courthouse can be built.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

June 3, 1984 - Mississippi's Congressional delegation will be asked to assist in efforts to fund and $11 million spray irrigation sewage treatment system for Hancock County. John Longo, mayor Waveland and chairman of the Waveland Regional Wastewater District said Thursday he is asking the delegation to attach a rider to the Environmental Protection Agency budget to provide funds for the innovative treatment project.

State Senator Gene Taylor of Bay St. Louis, will address a Common Cause meeting Saturday at the Biloxi public library. Taylor, a freshman legislator, will speak on ethics legislation and other issues which arose in the recent legislative session.

FORTY YEARS AGO

June 4, 1964 - After extended discussions of the county roads to be abandoned by the Mississippi Test Operation's formula proposed by the Corps of Engineers for Test Operations, the Board of Supervisors Monday approved a contract calling for payment of $410,000 by Uncle Sam to build 40 miles of (county) roads. The plan provides in essence, that each of the five supervisory beats will receive approximately eight miles of surfaced roads with the government's money.

Sheriff Sylvan J. Ladner, Jr., was instructed by the Board of Supervisors

When Stella cooks, you can't have just one bite

(It's time for Stella to spell me with one of the recipes she is trying out for her upcoming cookbook, "Pale White Oysters, Red Topped Crabs," to be published in spring '05. I particularly think you will like this one.)

It's now late spring, the weather is getting warmer each day and the Mississippi shrimp season is about to start. Louisiana has already opened their season and Mississippi will be opening theirs soon. I am sure you will love them now we are fortunate to have access to the Louisiana shrimp. Thank goodness this is so, frozen shrimp will do in a pinch but nothing beats eating shrimp caught the same day you purchased them. Keep that thought on many years, but have always enjoyed. The recipe is one you may remember. Green Goddess Salad Dressing! But have you tried it lately?

It's a good simple recipe, made of fresh and readily available ingredients (particularly if you keep a herb garden) and brings with it a versatility that seems to have no end, especially as we shall see with seafood. My use up to now has been to usually use it on a nice, fresh garden salad or as an accompaniment to chicken or as a dipping sauce for fresh vegetables in a veggie platter.

But, (and here we are back to discussing fresh shrimp) I have found a new and wonderful use. It is absolutely great combined with or used as a sauce with seafood such as fried fish, oysters or shrimp.

I made a trial batch of Green Goddess this past week and asked Paul to try it to see what he thought it needed as to seasoning. Well, he got a

Naval Academy student speaks to Hancock High

Last month, Andrea White (pictured) was preparing to give the salutatorian address to the Hancock High Class of 2003; this month she returned to Hancock High to give a very different speech. Following last year's graduation from Hancock High, White reported to the U.S. Naval Academy in Annapolis, Maryland for plebe summer, a six week program for junior officers. On break from the Academy, White recently spent the day in Kelley McKnight's history classes talking to the students about her year at the Naval Academy. She reported that all students have a strict daily regimen which includes reporting to three meals together, attending six classes, participating in 23 hours of athletic/extra curricular activities, and spending several hours in study hall each night. White will return to the U.S. Naval Academy for another three years of study before graduating in 2007 as a commissioned officer into either the U.S. Navy or Marine Corps.

OLA's Pucheu to Attend Millsaps HOBY Conference

THE SEA COAST ECHO
 Amanda Pucheu, sophomore at Our Lady Academy, has been selected to attend the 2003-2004 Mississippi Youth Leadership Seminar June 4-6 at Millsaps College in Jackson.

The Hugh O'Brian Foundation is dedicated to the recognition and development of leadership potential in young people of high school age, in particular sophomores. Every school may nominate a 10th grade student to attend the expense-paid weekend workshop in their state. The workshops focus on the theme, "America's Incentive System," the system which motivates activity in our society.

Daughter of Mary Ann and John Pucheu of Waveland, Pucheu has attended Our Lady Academy since the 7th grade. She is a member of OLA's Campus Ministry and was recently elected to serve as vice-president for 2004-2005. She is a member of OLA's "Relay for Life" Team, and she served as the 2003 captain.

Pucheu was named an "Outstanding Legislator" at the Senior Youth Legislature Assembly in Jackson in the fall. She is a member of OLA's literary magazine and newspaper staffs. She received a service pin for her volunteer service of 75+ hours at OLA's recent Awards Ceremony.

Hugh O'Brian established the Youth Foundation in 1958 after he was motivated by a remark of Dr. Albert Schweitzer, "The most important thing in education is to make young people think for themselves." In an effort to include more students, weekend state seminars were instituted in 1977.

Some objectives of the HOBY Foundation are: to encourage and assist students in their quest for self-identification and self-development, to interface these potential leaders with recognized leaders in business, industry, government, science, and education through workshops, and to stimulate opportunities for these young people to demonstrate their leadership abilities when they return home for the betterment of their community.

From each HOBY State Seminar, one young man and one young woman are selected to represent their state at a week-long International Leadership Seminar held in late summer. HOBY is recognized by the National Association of Secondary School Principals.

Mississippi Museum of Art Extends International Exhibition Paris Moderne

THE SEA COAST ECHO In response to popular demand, the Mississippi Museum of Art is extending the exhibition Paris Moderne: Art Deco Works from the Musée d'Art Moderne de la Ville de Paris (MAMVP) through September 6. Since its opening on March 6, 2004, approximately 10,000 individuals have visited the exhibition and attended related educational programs. Originally scheduled to close on July 11, the extension provides the opportunity for more individuals from outside the Jackson metro area to visit the exhibition.

"We are thrilled that we have this opportunity to extend the exhibition," said Betsy Bradley, MMA director. "We have had very good local, regional, and national press, which has certainly helped our attendance figures. This extension will allow even more people to view the exhibition through the summer months. Back-to-school student groups will also benefit from the longer run, which is especially important."

Paris Moderne: Art Deco Works from the Musée d'Art Moderne de la Ville de Paris is comprised of more than 40 paintings and works on paper, 25 pieces of furniture and other decorative arts, and 10 sculptures - all selected from MAMVP's extensive collection of Art Deco objects. This showing is the first time Art Deco objects have traveled as a group from MAMVP. Paris Moderne celebrates the rich decorative style of domestic interiors in Paris during the 1920s and 1930s through the use of suggested environments.

Arranged together, these pieces evoke an impression of the Parisian lifestyle during the bold and innovative years of the early 20th century.

Highlights of the exhibition include Woman with Blue Eyes, a painting by Amedeo Modigliani that expresses precisely the merging of traditional European themes with exotic influences; Henri Matisse's Sitting Dancer, a beautiful painting illustrating why he is known as the ultimate master of line, color, and form; a sofa with feet of bronze varnished with gold and sumptuous velvet upholstery by acclaimed French designer Paul Foliot; and Les Sports, Jean Dunand's 18-foot-tall gold lacquered bas-relief created for the ocean liner Normandie. This is the first time Les Sports has left France since it was accessioned by MAMVP.

Every two years, the Mississippi Museum of Art presents a significant exhibition through the generosity of the Robert M. Hearin Foundation to honor the memory of longtime Museum volunteer Annie Laurie Swann Hearin. Paris Moderne: Art Deco Works from the Musée d'Art Moderne de la Ville de Paris is the seventh presentation in The Annie Laurie Swann Hearin Memorial Exhibition Series. Previous exhibitions in the series include Dutch & Flemish 17th Century Paintings: The Harold Samuel Collection; Edgar Degas: The Many Dimensions of a Master; French Impressionist: Italian Paintings from Burghley House; Our Nation's Colors: A Celebration of American Painting: The American West: Out of Myth, Into Reality; and Passionate Observer: Eudora Welty among Artists of the Thirties. Each Hearin exhibition draws on average between 25,000 - 35,000 individuals.

Additional support for Paris Moderne: Art Deco Works from the Musée d'Art Moderne de la Ville de Paris is provided by the Jackson Convention & Visitors Bureau, the Tribal State Compact Program, administered through the Mississippi Band of Choctaw Indians and the Mississippi Development Authority's Tourism Development Division, and The Clarion-Ledger. Accompanying educational programs, activities, and special events are made possible through support from BankPlus and Ross & Yeger. Paris Moderne is organized by International Arts & Artists (IA&A), Washington, D.C., in collaboration with MAMVP. For more information on this exhibition, please contact the Mississippi Museum of Art at 601-960-1515.

Advertising is an investment in the success of your business. Every business has some kind of competition, either within the town, nearby city or from mail order firms. Your potential customers are being courted by your competitors. If you do not invite those customers to do business with you, they are likely to forget you and buy elsewhere. It is not uncommon for consumers to switch their trading from one store to another. Advertising helps to keep old customers and equally as important, make new ones.

Our community is constantly growing which means that potential customers are moving into the market area all the time. Advertising gives these newcomers a reason to visit your store.

Most businesses budget for their advertising expenses just as they do for other necessities such as rent, phones, etc. Smart business people realize that advertising is imperative to keep their business growing.

Another reason to advertise is that advertising is news! You profit by telling our readers what is new in your store. Through advertising, you can let a wide audience know the product lines you carry, the quality of your merchandise, the completeness of your service and the character of your store.

If you have something to sell, then you have something to advertise. When you have nothing to advertise, you are out of business. Advertising is designed to build your business and works best when it is repeated regularly. Consistent advertising pays off!

Now that you know some of the reasons to advertise, you're probably wondering how you can advertise most effectively. Surveys show that ads in local newspapers have more impact than in any other medium. The Sea Coast Echo goes into the majority of the homes in Hancock County. The Sea Coast Echo is full of interesting reading, it is a part of our community. People like to read about people and The Sea Coast Echo is full of pictures and stories about local people. The most important reason to advertise in The Sea Coast Echo is that our readers are your customers.

If you're looking for the best advertising value for your money, then you should contact the advertising department at The Sea Coast Echo. One of our advertising representatives will be happy to discuss the many advertising options offered by The Sea Coast Echo. For more information you may call 467-5474, Monday through Friday 8am to 5pm; or stop by our office at 124 Court Street, Bay St. Louis.

Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN LEHTI

Copyright © 1980 John A. Lehti, National Representative: Dail Advertising Service, P.O. Box 10278, Goldsboro, NC 27532

BIBLICAL SLAVERY

SLAVERY WAS A FACT OF LIFE IN BIBLICAL TIMES. THE MAJORITY OF SLAVES CAME THROUGH THE CONQUEST OF WAR. EVEN IN THOSE ANCIENT TIMES, THE HANDLING OF SLAVES BY THEIR CONQUERORS WAS NOT A HIT-OR-MISS OPERATION. LISTS EXIST, GOING AS FAR BACK AS 1740 B.C., IN WHICH THE ANCIENT EGYPTIANS TABULATED THEIR CAPTIVES' NAMES. IN THE BROOKLYN, N.Y. MUSEUM SUCH A LIST HAS BEEN PRESERVED IN WHICH AT LEAST TEN NAMES OF SEMITIC ORIGIN HAVE BEEN DECIPHERED. FOR THE PEOPLE OF THE BIBLE THERE WAS ALWAYS THE THREAT HANGING OVER THEIR HEADS OF POSSIBLE CAPTURE AND THE RESULTANT ENSLAVEMENT. WHEN WAR BROKE OUT BETWEEN KINGS, NO FAMILY COULD BE CERTAIN THAT THEY WOULD REMAIN TOGETHER IF THEIR KING AND HIS ARMY LOST THE WAR. A PRIME EXAMPLE IS THE TAKING OF LOT AND HIS FAMILY AND ALL HIS BELONGINGS BY THE CONQUERORS OF SODOM AND GOMORRAH (GEN. 14:12). ALTHOUGH LOT WAS NOT A NATIVE OF THE LAND, ONLY THE FACT THAT ABRAHAM CAME TO HIS RESCUE SAVED LOT FROM A LIFE OF SLAVERY!

OF ALL THIS, LOT, CAMPED NEAR SODOM, KNOWS NOTHING UNTIL IN THE EARLY DAWN, THE PRIVACY OF HIS TENT IS INVADIED!

Eternal Vigilance: The Price of Health

Attractive neckties are the crowning touch to the neat garb worn by healthcare professionals in our clinics and hospitals. It is reassuring to know that they think enough of us the patients to look their neatest and their best as they provide services for us.

Yet, the American Society for Microbiology released a study which calls into question whether wearing neckties is a healthy practice for people who deal constantly with germs. The study, conducted by New York Hospital Medical Center of Queens, says:

"Our results indicate that any benefit from the necktie may be offset by their potential risk in spreading disease."

This amazing statement was followed by the blunt observation from the researchers that the odds of a doctor having bacteria on his tie were eight times greater than those of security workers. Crawling with bacteria, said ties come into contact with patients and could spread bacteria to other patients and healthcare workers.

No, doctors are not dirtier or less sanitary than other people, but they deal with a far greater incidence and concentration of germs than are found in hardly any other type of work, except maybe septic tank cleaners. In fact, germs are a doctor's line of work.

A very disturbing thing about this medical report is the incredible amount of time it took to come to an obvious conclusion. Just think about it. How could it come to pass that a very transparent fact of bacterial presence has been in our faces and the faces of medical scientists for a century without being noticed as a health factor?

This study and report do not claim a necessary connection between contaminated neckties and the spread of bacteria. However, it is a common-sense conclusion that any concentrated presence of bacteria poses a threat to our health and well-being.

While huge positive leaps are being made in regard to many diseases and problem areas of the field of medicine, it takes a prosaic, in-our-face, under-the-radar problem like dirty, bacteria-laden neckties to snap us back to attention and renewed vigilance.

This brings home the lesson that our biggest health threats are often not found in the most notorious diseases such as cancer, diabetes and hypertension, but in the unnoticed dangers like poor hygiene. We ignore the latter while concentrating on the former.

Need I observe that this could easily prove to be our undoing as we move right along in our lives, zapping the dreaded diseases with high technology, yet, through inattention, falling prey to the deadly germs lurking in pedestrian items of our everyday usage?

Which harks back to the hand-washing problem of doctors and medical assistants at the turn of the nineteenth century, when it was discovered that many babies died because their medical attendants were not washing their hands frequently.

With the well-informed perspective of hindsight, it is most distressing to learn of the massive resistance of the medical community to the elementary practice of washing one's hands after contact with dirty or public objects, even when such washing meant that many germ-vulnerable new babies would not be killed by hand-induced infections.

The same problem has surfaced as recently as several years ago when local university medical students bird-dogged thousands of doctors and nurses at a medical convention in New Orleans, and saw that 74 percent of them did not wash after using the rest room.

In the midst of my reflecting on these things and putting them down on paper, I was in the kitchen preparing one of my special creations: tomato-based vegan meat sauce with whole wheat pasta. A parishioner, who, ironically works in the health sector, walked into the kitchen and promptly sneezed into her right hand. She just went on talking.

She had not bothered to attempt to whip out her handkerchief to use as a buffering and smothering agent for the explosion of germs. Nor did she look around for antibacterial liquid soap to wash her hands and thereby restore some respectability to the kitchen. She could have just as well have been in a rest room. Even there, she should have washed.

Without missing a beat, she proceeded to explain her problem without adverting at all to her right hand which was now busy contaminating her papers and everything else which she touched. She would soon be shaking hands with that same hand.

That kitchen incident triggered a harsh flashback to two days before, Sunday, when I noticed a parishioner studiously, obliviously digging her index finger into her nose. She was, no doubt, revving up her germs for the handshake, or whatever, of peace.

Evidently trying to pop some air impacted in an ear, another person was busy swiveling a little finger in, out and around inside the ear. Though surely not the worst place for incubating germs, our ears are clearly a very unclean, polluted environment.

After visiting such an unclean environment, and worse, with our hands, we play them aimlessly, carelessly over our faces, seemingly convinced that our hands are germ-free and ready to relieve every itch, head of sweat or teardrop which irritates our faces.

Then, during the ritual of exchanging peace in church, we present our contaminated hands and faces to the sisters and brothers eagerly awaiting a handshake, a hug, a kiss or at least a high five.

For their gift of peace, they are receiving a multitude of germs.

Is the reward for attending church widespread exposure to a smorgasbord of germs?

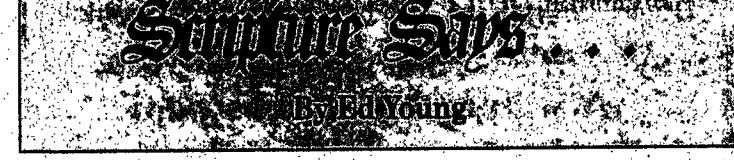

Just as it took until May, 2004 for the world medical scientists to discover the startling, ever-present, ever-evident phenomenon of germ-contaminated neckties worn by doctors at clinics and hospitals, getting at all health facts seems to take an eternity.

Will it take another decade, a generation, even a century to corral all the issues, the facts, the know-how and the means to achieve complete health of body, mind and soul? We do hope that the blinding speed of computers will give us a shortcut to all this.

At any rate, it costs us only a bit of effort to stay alert and vigilant to the most basic elements of hygiene in the frequent washing of our hands and bodies, to precautions in coughing, sneezing and nose blowing, and to sanitation in readying and consuming foods.

Reflections on Life

by Father Jerome LeDoux, SVD

And now for something completely different ...

Laughter is good for the soul

There was excitement throughout all the villages where the Hebrews lived.

Rabbi Moses had sent word that Yul Brennen Ramsey and his queen Ann Boxter Ramsey have been persuaded to let man and beast leave Egypt.

Meanwhile, the village leaders were instructing the people to go to Payless and buy as many sandals as they could carry.

Rabbi Moses' brother Aaron sent word about the traveling apparel; would not be tank shirts, shorts pants above the knee, and or women's skirts a proper length.

Strange things were happening among the multitudes of the Hebrew men. They were catapulting the task masters into Pharaoh's court play hide and seek on the muddy banks of the Nile river. The cry was, here's mud in you eye. The day came when it was time to leave the bondage the Hebrews had experienced for three hundred years.

Pharaoh and his wife stood on the verandah with first clutched watching the departure, as the frogs and locust jumped playfully about their head and shoulders.

Pharaoh, full of hate, ordered his army to attack the fleeing Hebrews as they neared the Red Sea. The general in charge told Pharaoh it would be hard to catch the Hebrews; because the troops were loaded down with costume jewelry the Jewish mother's made them buy.

Well, we all know the rest of the story. It wasn't quite like that, but still God and His people had the last laugh.

Psalms 2:3, He who sits in the heavens shall laugh; the Lord shall have them in derision. Amen, Amen, and Amen.

The "Word" for the Week Feelings in the way of scripture?

Dennis J. Prutow • Box 303, Sterling, KS 67579

Your feelings are important, aren't they? But do you ever let your feelings get in the way of doing what you know is right? For example, we tend to think of love and marriage in terms of feelings!

So when the feelings seem to be gone, we believe that love is gone.

Of course, love is not only a feeling. As Jesus says, "If you love Me, you will keep My commandments" (John 14:15). Loving Jesus is much more than having a good feeling about Him. Loving Jesus is a commitment to Him! By the same token, in marriage, you make promises. You recite vows to God and to your spouse!

You are not at liberty to divorce your spouse when you think certain feelings are gone. God demands that you keep your word. "Pay what you vow! It is better that you should not vow than that you should vow and not pay" (Ecclesiastes 5:4-5). How often feelings get in the way of obeying God and doing what we really know is right! We also relate hypocrisy to how we feel. Because some people think love is a feeling, they also think when the feeling is gone, to stay with a husband or wife is hypocrisy. This misconception allows feelings to get in the way of doing right! What is right? Listen again to the Bible! "For I hate divorce, says the Lord" (Malachi 2:16). Now God does not ask you how you feel about your marriage vows. He tells you that He intends to hold you to those vows and that He hates divorce! As for hypocrisy, have you ever gotten out of bed when you didn't feel like it? Have you ever gone to work when you didn't feel like it? You weren't a hypocrite then were you? So don't allow your feelings to get in the way of doing right in more important areas of your life!

Monday to submit monthly bills to municipalities of Bay St. Louis and Waveland for care of their prisoners in the county jail.

Eyeing increasing demands on the county general fund the board took the position it should pay only for prisoners for whom the county treasury collects any fines.

FIFTY YEARS AGO

June 4, 1954 - What would be your reaction when you learned by the means of a telegram that your son had been on the exploded aircraft carrier Bennington? T.C. Wicker, Sr., who lives in Pearlinton, was faced with this situation last week. He received word from his son Ensign R.A. Wicker that he had just taken off in a jet before the explosion occurred on the Bennington and that he was okay, and not to worry.

"I thought my son was on the Hornet and that he wasn't due to arrive in Rhode Island until June 7th.

So when I heard about the Bennington, I didn't worry about his safety. It was quite a shock to learn of the danger he had been in without having any knowledge whatsoever of the incident," the elder Wicker, who is the retired superintendent of the Public Service in New Orleans said.

-At a meeting held Tuesday night at the (Bay St. Louis) American Legion Home, members of the Clement Bontemps Post 139 elected Sidney Bourgeois, commander; Tom L. Bressler, first vice-commander; Bert Estapa, second vice-commander, Adjutant; Charles R. Beyer, treasurer; and Andy Becker, service officer.

SIXTY YEARS AGO

June 2, 1944 - America's coveted air award, the Distinguished Flying Cross, was recently presented to First-Lieutenant Ernest E. Russell, Jr., of Bay St. Louis, during an impressive ceremony held on his P-47 Thunderbolt base "Somewhere in England." He has been on combat status with the Thunderbolt group and has crossed the English Channel over 53 times on missions.

-The eighty-ninth Annual Commencement exercises of Saint Joseph Academy were held at St. Joseph's Memorial Hall, May 27. Presentation of Diplomas was by Rev. A.J. Gmelch and Valedictory Address was by Miss Carol Stevenson.

ONE HUNDRED-TWELVE YEARS AGO

June 11, 1992 - On Saturday evening last a number of Bay young ladies gave a dance and "candy pulling" party complimentary, to the young gentlemen who have kept the past few months lively with picnics and dance parties. The scenes of the enjoyable affair were at the spacious residence and Mr. and Mrs. Breath.

-On Wednesday next the Independent, Hook and Ladder Fire Company will turn out upon our streets in annual dress parade, Mayor A.A. Ulman, of Waveland will be grand Marshall for the day.

The day of celebration will wind up at night with a grand fancy dress and calico ball at the hall.

spoon from the drawer and tried a spoonful. And then there was another spoonful and then another and then another. It seemed the way he was wearing down my spoon that it didn't need any more seasonings, there wouldn't be any left.

I made some more and decided to explore and try something new with her green majesty. This centered on mixing it into a salad using as a chief ingredient some fresh shrimp I had just boiled. Well, the resulting shrimp salad was delicious, and I've included it below as a recipe for you to enjoy.

Bon Appetit, Stella
P.S. I should add that Paul and I couldn't get

Green Goddess Shrimp Salad

- 1 cup mayonnaise
- 1/2 cup lemon juice
- 1/2 cup fresh parsley finely chopped
- 2 cups fresh green onions finely chopped
- 3 anchovy filets minced
- 1/2 cup boiled shrimp peeled, deveined and chopped

Combine mayonnaise, scallions, parsley, lemon juice and anchovy filets and mix well. Chill for at least one hour. Add shrimp to dressing and mix well. Serve on lightly toasted crusty bread for lunch or as an appetizer. Serves 4.

NOTE: If you make the dressing for a salad or a dip, anchovy filets should be enough. Please note that there are no seasonings in the dressing as the anchovies provide the salt. This dressing is good on just about anything: fried fish, fried oysters or scallops, would say, anything that lays flat on the table.

enough of the Green Goddess as a stand-alone dressing. So, I made another fresh batch for random dipping. Some friends stopped by later and I asked them to try the dressing to get an unbiased opinion. They had a little and then a little more and then some more.

They had it on just about everything I had in the kitchen, fresh veggies, boiled shrimp and bread cubes.

Some deliverymen came by while our friends were here and they tried the dressing as well. They loved it and, mind you, they were from Louisiana!

And so it goes that you can't have just one bite of this dressing and there are so many things to try it on! Fried oysters, fresh grilled fish, on and on.

Poetry -- Well-versed

During the salon discussions, attendees will discuss the life and poetry of the featured poet. Writers will get a chance to read their own original poetry as well. King, a former restaurateur, will serve wine and dinner at no charge. All poets and poetry lovers are encouraged to attend.

The center was started on March 26 of this year. King runs the studio out of her home on 116 Sycamore St. in Bay St. Louis. King should be no stranger to poetry lovers in Bay St. Louis, however. Along with center member Gail Mollring, King held twice-weekly readings at Da Beach House for several years.

King usually mans the center herself from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays. During these hours, poets and poetry lovers can come by and check out books, or use the Center's computer to type or edit their work.

King said a major function of the center was to help local poets get their work published.

"The biggest thing we're doing is helping local poets get their work in print," King said.

One such author is 73-year-old Bay resident Donald McLaws.

McLaws, an avid reader and poet, has written several books over the course of his life. In addition to poetry, McLaws has compiled huge collections of palindromes (names or words that are spelled the same forward or backwards) and homophones (words that sound the same, but have different meanings).

"It took me about 30 to 40 years," McLaws said. "I collected them like some people collect stamps."

McLaws, a native of Baton Rouge, LA, also wrote a book on edible plants in the Louisiana and Mississippi south. He said his interest arose out of necessity.

"I wanted to know the things I could eat without buying them," McLaws said.

"I was very poor for 20 years, and too old to get much of a job. There's a lot of good things you can eat that grow wild around here."

For example, McLaws said, you can make flour and wine from dandelions, Kudzu, a plant that many southerners regard as a nuisance and an eyesore, can also be used for grain. According to his book, the flowers that grow on the vine are an excellent cure for drunkenness.

Checking in with Michael Imperioli

By Jay Bobbin
© Zap2it

Life among "The Sopranos" is never easy for Christopher Moltisanti. That may not be how the gangster wannabe likes it, but it's fine with Michael Imperioli, the actor-writer-director who plays him. The Emmy-winning HBO crime drama wraps up its fifth season Sunday, June 6, leaving situations that won't be resolved soon. Year six doesn't even start production until next March, as decreed by creator-producer David Chase, who wanted a full year off before starting what may be the series' final scripts.

It's doubtful they'll be any kinder to Christopher, who appears to have been denied succession of his mob mentor, Tony Soprano (James Gandolfini). Tony's ex-con cousin, Tony B. (Steve Buscemi), has complicated things - as has the FBI's interest in Christopher's fiancée, Adriana (Drea de Matteo). Also the writer of several "Sopranos" episodes, Imperioli confirms Christopher's woes have been "great for me careerwise. He's always getting curveballs thrown at him; just as he's settling into something, the rug gets pulled out from underneath him, or he pulls it out himself. As an actor, I still find the show very rich and challenging. It's a great environment, and I work with great people."

After directing Vincent Curatola (alias Johnny Sack of "The Sopranos") in a New York play, Imperioli is happy to have more "Sopranos" work to look forward to ... especially since any character could get "whacked" at any moment. "He's got nine lives," Imperioli muses of Christopher. "He's always jockeying for position. It's probably not unlike what happens in other lines of work, but especially in this one, one mistake could be your last."

Born: Jan. 1, 1966, in Mount Vernon, N.Y.
Marital status: Wife's name is Victoria; they have three children.
Selected movie work: "Good Fellas," "Lean on Me," "Malcolm X," "Bad Boys," "The Basketball Diaries," "Clockers," "Dead Presidents," "Girl 6," "Last Man Standing," "Summer of Sam" (also co-writer and co-executive producer), "My Baby's Daddy."
Other TV work: "Firehouse," "Witness to the Mob," "Disappearing Acts," "Hamlet," "VH1 Big in 2002 Awards" (co-host).
On one of his pleasures in doing "The Sopranos": "Christopher has been given the chance to evolve over the years. It's a testament to David Chase that this show moves forward in time."

Curiosity brings man back to Titanic

By Jacqueline Cutler
© Zap2it

Nearly 20 years after Robert Ballard discovered the Titanic, the oceanographer returns to the scene of the world's most famous shipwreck to see what damage man has since wrought.

Rather than rely on his findings, the world has the chance to watch with him on the first live underwater telecast from the wreckage on "Return to Titanic," Monday, June 7, on National Geographic Channel.

What Dr. Ballard hopes to find "is nothing has changed," he says over lunch in a Manhattan restaurant a month before leaving. What he expects to find, he says, "is a lot of damage."

The sea itself likely has not done too much damage since 1985, when Ballard found the Titanic in more than 12,000 feet of water off the coast of Newfoundland, but so much has changed since.

The good news is that technology has advanced so much that state-of-the-art submersible robots will examine the ship's condition. The bad news is that once Ballard made that find of a lifetime, others whose missions were not as noble followed.

RMS Titanic Inc. is allowed to conduct salvage operations, and has recovered more than 6,000 artifacts. Several tour companies operate dives to the site, and one couple even married there. The commercial and macabre aspects of the site make Ballard shudder. He did not take anything from his initial trip, nor from his next one the year after, he says.

A professor of oceanography at the University of Rhode Island and director of its Institute for Archaeological Oceanography, Ballard respects the ship and the lives lost on April 15, 1912.

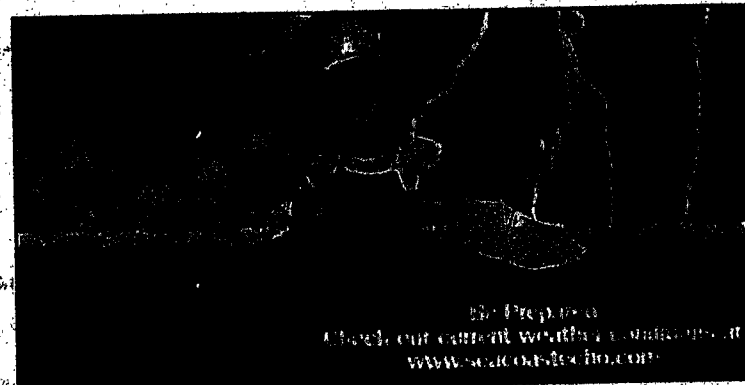

"My vision is of an underwater museum," he says, likening his dream for the Titanic to that of the USS Arizona.

Hugh Jackman helps Broadway take its bow

By Jacqueline Cutler
© Zap2it

Eight times a week, Hugh Jackman seduces 1,500 people as he rules a Broadway stage in "The Boy from Oz." Jackman sings, dances and acts so exquisitely he has inspired a cult of repeat theatergoers, the Ozalots.

CBS hopes Jackman can parlay that sexy charm and seduce millions into watching the 58th annual Tony Awards Sunday, June 6. For the second consecutive year, Jackman hosts the show celebrating the best of Broadway.

"It is such a buzz being on Broadway," Jackman says. "Being on Broadway is the holy grail."

The three-hour awards show, live from Radio City Music Hall, is New York's best commercial of the year. For the millions of tourists who descend upon Manhattan, seeing a Broadway show is among their must-dos along with paying respects at Ground Zero. The best way to know if a play entices is to watch the Tony Awards.

A new stage, with a proscenium like a Broadway theater, has been built for the Tonys. In addition to the 17 awards and seven production numbers from musicals, there are three other numbers featuring stars from outside of theater singing Broadway favorites, culled from 50 years of Tony-winning musicals. Among these: Tony Bennett sings the Broadway anthem "Lullaby of Broadway"; and Mary J. Blige sings the heartbreaker from "A Chorus Line," "What I Did for Love."

Jackman performs two numbers, including at least one from "Oz," in which he taps, sings and sashays as the late showman and fellow Aussie Peter Allen.

Like other nominees, Jackman downplays the possibility of winning. "I never go there," Jackman says about the buzz that he is a shoo-in for best actor in a musical. "I just think it's a bad way to think about awards. Don't get me wrong. It was great to be nominated and to be hosting is such a huge honor."

Tony producers Ricky Kirschner and Glenn Weiss (who is also the director) want this year's show to appeal to a broader audience, and as such have Nicole Kidman and Scarlett Johansson presenting awards.

"When Nicole came over, she was roommates with my wife," Jackman says, trying to recall if the stately redhead had to bunk on the floor or if there were a bed available. "She's very sweet and terrific on stage. Maybe she will get up and sing with me."

Also like his fellow nominees, Jackman has not written a thank you speech, though he says he plans to "mentally have a checklist so I don't forget anyone. Some who won awards didn't mention their spouse and there is trouble in the marriage after."

Though Jackman seems a sure bet in his category, the best actress in a musical category is the tightest race in recent memory. The women vying for the 1 pound, 10-ounce trophy are: Kristin Chenoweth and Idina Menzel, "Wicked"; Stephanie D'Abruzzo, "Avenue Q"; Donna Murphy, "Wonderful Town"; and Tonya Pinkins, "Caroline, or Change."

All are deserving parties, but the least famous of them, D'Abruzzo, harbors no illusions. Walking around a luncheon for Tony nominees, she is stunned.

"It didn't hit me until I walked into the room," she says. "They are the four giants of the American theater. I'm the piece of chicken, but you are not going to meet a happier piece of chicken."

Among the actresses she is competing against are the those from the most nominated show, "Wicked." Receiving 10 Tony nods, it depicts life in Oz as Dorothy never knew it. Chenoweth has won a Tony in 1999 for a supporting role in "You're a Good Man, Charlie Brown," and is up for this one as sassy Glinda. "This time it's almost worse," she says en route to a movie shoot. "What if they decide no?" Menzel, who outside of an "Avenue Q" puppet, is the greenest thing to trod a Broadway stage, says there is no competition between castmates. "It's really wonderful to share it with her," Menzel says.

Murphy, winner of two best actress Tonys, tears up the stage as a brassy writer in Greenwich Village of 1935. She made herself sleep through the morning nominations, and arose at 11 a.m. to many congratulatory messages on her answering machine.

"It's such a heavy category, but that's a good thing," Murphy says. "I salute those ladies."

Those ladies don't stop long to reflect on glory. Pinkins, chic in her own garb, was hurrying to the theater to "wash off the glamour" before the matinee, where she plays a maid.

Though it would be naive to think each nominee does not want to win, there is a tremendous camaraderie among theater actors. There's also a deep sense of gratitude just to be working at their craft, apparent from those in their Broadway debuts to those who have been at it for decades.

Jeff Whitty, writer of the hilarious "Avenue Q," says, "It was a total sense of excitement and relief. With 'Avenue Q,' I never expected it to go this far."

Another relative newcomer to the genre, Anne Heche, nabbed a nomination for her second Broadway turn, in "Twentieth Century." "My brother put into his yearbook that his dream was to be on Broadway," she says. "I was so young when he did that. He died. I'm doing it for myself, making it so much more exciting."

'70s' actor was in right place, right time

Q Please tell me everything you can about Topher Grace of "That '70s Show." I don't think he has gotten the recognition he deserves. -Amy Lynn Palmiro, Wayne, N.J.

A Topher (from Christopher) Grace, was born in New York but grew up in Connecticut. He was attending the same New Hampshire prep school as the children of "That '70s Show" executive producers Bonnie and Terry Turner when the Turners saw him in a student musical and decided to cast him as Eric Forman, despite his complete lack of professional experience.

Grace next made a striking feature film debut as a preppy drug user in Steven Soderbergh's Oscar-winning 2000 "Traffic," and later did an uncredited cameo as himself in the same director's "Ocean's 11."

His next two movies, "Mona Lisa Smile" and "Win a Date With Tad Hamilton!" were box-office disappointments. Grace recently finished filming

Topher Grace

"P.S.," a romantic comedy due in theaters in October, in which he plays the twentysomething reincarnation of an older woman's (Laura Linney) high-school sweetheart.

As of this writing, Grace is working on "Synergy," a dark 2005 comedy-drama in which he plays the much-younger boss of a middle-age ad executive (Dennis Quaid), whose daughter (Scarlett Johansson) is having an affair with Grace's character.

For now, Grace is happy to continue working on the sitcom that made him a star. "That '70s Show" returns for a new season on Fox in the fall.

Q The credits for the 1991 Goldie Hawn movie "Deceived" includes the role of "Evelyn's Mother," played by Laura Hawn. Is she related to Goldie? -Shari R., Golden, Colo.

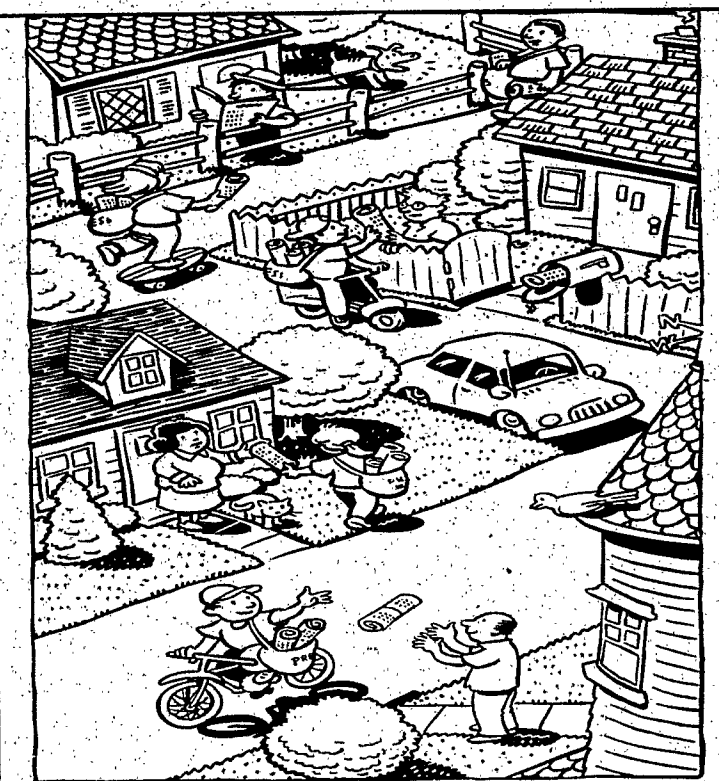

A Yes. Goldie Hawn is the daughter of musician Edward Hawn and his wife, Laura, who worked as a dance instructor and ran a wholesale jewelry business.

In addition to "Deceived," Laura Hawn appeared with her daughter in 1984's "Swing Shift." In 1992, Goldie took a two-year hiatus from acting when her mother's health started to fail. Laura Hawn died in 1994.

Fox goes behind the closed doors of 'The Jury'

By Kate O'Hare
© Zap2it

The Sixth Amendment of the Constitution, under "Rights of the Accused in Criminal Prosecutions," says, in part, "In all criminal prosecutions, the accused shall enjoy the right to a speedy and public trial, by an impartial jury of the State and district in which the crime shall have been committed..."

After all the police work has been done, the forensics gathered, the witnesses interviewed, the defendant accused, and after all the lawyers have asked all their questions and made all their speeches, it falls to 12 ordinary men and women to decide the fate of a fellow citizen, using whatever intelligence, logic and common sense they have.

With a few exceptions - most notably Reginald Rose's play and movie, "12 Angry Men" - drama has preferred to stay with the police investigation or the verbal pyrotechnics of the courtroom rather than follow the long, tedious process of deliberation behind the closed doors of the jury chamber.

But on Tuesday, June 8, on Fox, three former cohorts from the police drama "Homicide: Life on the Street" - director/producer Barry Levinson and writer/producers Tom Fontana and James Yoshimura - join forces to reveal the secret world of "The Jury."

Each episode focuses on a different case and a different jury, with the crime and court proceedings revealed in flashbacks. At the end, a final flashback lets viewers see how the crime actually unfolded, so they can make their own judgment on the jury's verdict.

"The show starts with the jury having all the information," Fontana says. "They walk into the room with all the knowledge, so it's about how the knowledge is discussed, and what's dramatic about the discussion."

Fontana and Levinson most recently worked together on the HBO prison drama "Oz," where much of the action also took the form of tense conversations in small rooms. "The Jury" blends that sensibility with the more quirky and philosophical elements of "Homicide," and just a bit of the characters' personal lives.

"If you think about it," Fontana says, "Barry and I, this is the middle part of our trilogy. We did homicide detectives, prison - we know about the crime; we know how they get arrested; we know what happens to them once they get sent away; we don't know what happens in the middle part. So this is the middle of the trilogy."

The regular cast members of "The Jury" are the judge (played by Levinson), the prosecutors (Billy Burke, Jeff Hephner), the defense attorneys (Shalom Harlow, Anna Friel), the legal intern (Cote de Pablo), and the bailiffs (Adam Busch, Patricia O'Neal), who deal with the jury.

In Busch's case, he first had to get out of jury duty in Los Angeles in order to audition for "The Jury" in New York (the show films at the former "Oz" stages in New Jersey). In the course of this, he met a man very much like the one he was to portray.

"I had to go to the Hollywood court," he recalls. "I went in, and the guy had ill-fitting tan Dockers on and just a sad dress shirt. He had a fish tie on, and his sleeves rolled up. He made all these jokes that nobody wanted to hear. Nobody wanted to be there. He's not even into it, because he's said these jokes so many times before.

"When I got the full script to go meet with them, for the person who's in charge of the jury, he was described as wearing an ill-fitting suit, bad tie, cracking jokes that nobody wants to hear, to an audience that doesn't want to hear them, in a way that's been so done so many times before."

"The Jury" is a rare treat on television today, with no high concept, no special effects, no tribal council - just the magic created by good actors speaking well-written words. That meant a lot to Busch, whose previous job was Joss Whedon's "Buffy the Vampire Slayer."

"I was a New York actor for most of my life," he says, "and the fact that there's a show now that needs 12 different, multi-ethnic, all races, all ages, actors, every week, to do tons of speeches and monologues, and be characters that are not based on the fact that they are Indian or Asian or Jewish, based on the fact that they're human beings - every week, 12 of them. It's amazing. It's a great thing for New York to have."

"People get to play a person, a human being, because everybody gets jury duty. Everybody's forced to be direct and intelligent and communicate with each other about relationships. It's been a wonderful thing to watch."

Born in the United Kingdom (although she plays an American), Friel hopes that watching the series changes people's attitudes about serving on a jury.

"You go into the minds of the jury, which is why I think this series is innovative and intriguing," Friel says. "People come in from their normal lives, and they forget it's not a play. They get excited that their opinion matters. They might be housewives who've never had an opinion matter, never had their voice heard. They get caught up in themselves and have their voice heard, as opposed to realizing you now have a man's life or a woman's life in your hands.

"If anything, maybe it will get people to take it much more seriously. Most people don't care about it, their own lives are more important. But we have to take this on. It's part of our democracy."

"It's about ordinary people," Fontana says, "and the logic we bring to complex issues. And when I say logic, I mean personal experience, personality, education, all the elements that make us up as individuals. You put us in a room together. In a way, I hope, ultimately, it's a celebration of our capacity as a people to reason."

It's raining visions on USA's 'The Dead Zone'

By Kate O'Hare

It's raining in Vancouver, Canada, on the set of USA Network's "The Dead Zone," which launches its third season Sunday, June 6. As an Irish-American whose family hailed from the seaside county of Cork (and who lives at the beach in Los Angeles), star Anthony Michael Hall is not dissuaded by the damp.

Hall plays Johnny Smith, a coma victim who awoke - two seasons ago - to discover he had been blessed, or cursed, with powerful visions. Over the run of the show, Johnny has learned how to use his visions to try to avert tragedy or solve crimes. He's also haunted by one powerful vision - that politician Greg Stillson (Sean Patrick Flanery) will one day trigger Armageddon.

But right now, Johnny's problems are more immediate. He needs to prevent a tragic shooting at a high school, and he's called on the help of Rebecca Caldwell (Sarah Wynter), a therapist and new friend.

"Johnny's real and tangible in the way he applies himself," co-producer Hall says. "At the same time, he uses his heart and his spirit. The challenge for me is to bring that to life every day.

"Each episode, I dig in, shadow the director, see how they get what they want. I approach every episode like a producer and the star of the show. I take that seriously."

On hand this day is guest star Robert Iler ("The Sopranos"), playing a troubled teen. The episode also features Judge Reinhold as the school principal. These are only two of a list of third-season guest actors that includes Richard Lewis (in an episode directed by Hall) and "Alias" star Greg Kinnear.

"It's a nice trend," Hall says. "It's encouraging that the network is willing to bring actors up from L.A. I'm really excited about these actors, Robert Iler now, Judge Reinhold, Sarah Wynter. It lends more credibility to a show that's pretty dynamic and original."

Along with the high-profile guest stars, producer Robert Petrovicz promises plenty of time will be spent on the regular characters. Aside from Johnny, there's Sarah (Nicole de Boer), his former fiancée; Sheriff Walt Bannerman (Chris Bruno), Sarah's current husband, who is raising Johnny's son (Spencer Achtymichuk) as his own; Johnny's friend and former physical therapist, Bruce Lewis (John L. Adams); and the Rev. Gene Purdy (David Ogden Stiers), Johnny's stepfather and a rich, powerful evangelist.

"The mission statement is the characters," Petrovicz says during a break in filming. "Our desire was to take the relationships of Johnny and Walt and Sarah, Johnny and Purdy, and really develop those and twist them. With Purdy, I've been waiting for that relationship to take a different course. Purdy's going to be exposed. His character is going to take the path that we hoped and plotted when we first put the pilot together."

Also on the docket is more of the Stillson story line. In addition, the show has retained some percentage of the action that was on display in the six adventure-oriented episodes produced for last summer.

"We're going to have character-driven shows," Petrovicz says, "but this year has already had a huge animal show last week with grizzly bears and cougars gone wild and horses trampling up the soccer field. These shows have been epic in proportion."

Sarah Wynter joins the cast as Rachel, the new woman trying to adjust to the unconventional and often dangerous life of crusading psychic Johnny Smith (Anthony Michael Hall), in the third-season premiere of the series "The Dead Zone" Sunday on USA Network.

Defense, rebounding, shooting formula for champ

By George Dickie

He may not be able to predict the champion, but ABC's Doc Rivers does know what type of basketball to expect come NBA Finals time.

"I think you'll see the best play that teams have to offer," says Rivers, who will provide analysis alongside Al Michaels for the alphabet network's coverage of the best-of-seven NBA Finals, which begin Sunday, June 6. "Because to get to the finals, you've gone through every test possible, and usually you catch two teams that are on stride, two teams who have peaked. And it's the best basketball, in my opinion, that you can watch all year. Both teams, by that point, have become physical teams. They've become great defensive teams; and somebody that we don't know has usually become an X factor that we didn't count on."

By extension, Rivers says all championship-caliber teams have several traits in common. "Defense wins in the finals," he says. "You know, teams have proven that they can run and score and win championships, but they still are defensive basketball teams. You have to defend and rebound to win an NBA title. There's no way around it. No one has not done that and won. Those are the two things that you have to do. But you also have to shoot the ball well. If you look at the percentages, field-goal percentage is one of the key numbers to winning - opponent's field-goal percentage and your field-goal percentage. If you shoot the ball well, you'll win the title."

And if you don't, you won't, as the 2003 champion San Antonio Spurs found out in their recent loss to the Los Angeles Lakers in a Western Conference semifinal series.

In their victories in Games 1 and 2, the Spurs made nearly half their field goals (73 for 148), while the Lakers shot at a .448 (64 for 143) clip. In the last four games - all San Antonio losses - the defending champs hoisted 326 shots, knocking down 116 (for an abysmal .355 field-goal percentage), while the Lakers went 133 for 274, or a .485 clip.

Not exactly the shooting touch of a champion. "They found that out four games in a row," Rivers says. "I mean, if you think of how well the Spurs shot and they end up losing four games straight, it all came down, not to their defense, but it came down to their offense. So that's a great example. As good as the Spurs' defense was - and it was pretty good - they needed more offense at the end of the day. So it is a mix; you have to have both."

The swiftness of San Antonio's playoff demise surprised Rivers. "When they went up 2-0," he says, "I didn't know if they were going to win the series or not, because all they did was win two games at home, which is what they should do. But I did think it would at least go seven. I was very surprised to see that go that quickly."

"That series reminded me so much of the series I was involved in with the Knicks and the Bulls (the 1993 Eastern Conference semifinals), where we went up 2-0 on the Bulls, and then we had that three-day break, which I thought hurt us momentum-wise. The next thing you know, we're out. We lost four in a row to them."

Following the finals, Rivers exits the ABC booth and begins another chapter of his coaching career. He takes over the Boston Celtics, a team laden with tradition and history who are coming off a losing year that saw them miss the playoffs. "It's a hell of a challenge," he says. "It's a great franchise, and you don't get an opportunity to coach that very often."

"I'll tell you, I was not out looking," Rivers continues. "I was at home with the kids, going to games, golfing and boating, basically. And when Danny (Ainge, the Celtics' executive director of basketball operations) called, it was very difficult for me to say no. And at the end of the day, I didn't."

At 42, and seven months removed from his firing by the Orlando Magic, Rivers is still among the youngest coaches in the league. "I said it in the press conference," he says. "If I was 55, I would not be sitting here. That's too big of a job at that point. But at this point in my life, I'm really, really looking forward to this challenge."

"NASCAR Racing" Sunday, June 6 (FX, 1 p.m. ET): Tony Stewart had the fastest car and Ryan Newman had no power steering, but that didn't stop Newman from winning last year's MBNA Armed Forces Family 400. Newman took control when a pit-road mistake by Stewart knocked him all the way to 32nd place. Stewart fought his way back to eventually finish fourth, behind Newman, Jeff Gordon and Bobby Labonte. This year's race, called the MBNA 400: A Salute to Heroes, airs from Dover, Del.

"MLB Baseball" Sunday, June 6 (ESPN, 8 p.m. ET): The Chicago Cubs usually get more ink, but their neighbors on the South Side have warranted at least equal coverage thus far this season. The White Sox, under first-year manager Ozzie Guillen, have kept pace in the American League Central using the slugging of Magglio Ordonez and a pitching staff ranked third in the league after 36 games. The Sox are in Seattle tonight to take on Ichiro Suzuki and the last-place Mariners.

"NBA Hardwood Classics: The Player and the Coach" Friday, June 11 (The History Channel, 8 p.m. ET): It's likely no partnership between a coach and a player had a greater impact on their sport than the one forged between Red Auerbach and Bill Russell. Together, they built a dynasty, winning an unprecedented 11 NBA championships for the Boston Celtics. This new hour-long special, narrated by basketball Hall of Famer Bill Walton, chronicles their accomplishments on the court, as well as how the duo helped break racial barriers away from the game.

Jonathan Kaye takes on the Buick Classic Thursday on ABC.

The Sopranos

The award-winning mob drama closes the books on its fifth season with "All Due Respect" — and there will be a sixth round of the show, but not for another year or so. Here, Johnny Sack (Vincent Curatola) intends to make things tough for Tony (James Gandolfini), but allies make their support of Tony clear. Christopher (Michael Imperioli) gets an unexpected visitor who rattles him. AJ (Robert Iler) displays his business sense.

All My Children

Babe kept the truth about Bess to herself as she and J.R. were wed. Kendall was stunned when she accused Ryan of marrying Greenlee to hurt her, and he said he loves Greenlee. Refusing to accept this, Kendall pulled Ryan into a kiss, but he backed off and refused to admit that he loves her. Later, Kendall eavesdropped in Ryan's penthouse and learned that the marriage is an act, then threatened to expose the truth to the Cambias' lawyers. Krystal broke off her budding relationship with David and asked Tad on a date, which he accepted. Erica rejected Zach's offer of friendship when she believed he's been investigating her. In return, Zach cut off Erica's liquor supply. Coming: Krystal learns she has an enemy.

As the World Turns

Barbara and Paul realized that Jordan could be James Stenbeck's son - and Barbara could be his mother. Jennifer, who had become intimate with Jordan, refused Barbara's plea to stay away from him. Much to Mike's anguish, Katie realized it truly is over with them, and turned to Simon, with whom she made love. Pilar ordered Ross to make a violent scene that would draw Mike in. Chris reconciled with Alison and agreed to move into the Stewart house with her - only to catch an eyeful of Susan in the buff. Margo was horrified when she responded to Doc's unexpected kiss. Coming: Barbara and Paul do some digging into the past.

Ridge pledged his love and support to Brooke, who admitted she was marrying Nick for the baby's sake. Coming: Brooke doesn't know who or what to believe.

Days of Our Lives

Lexie read the letter Abe left, urging her to find another man. As Abe feared that Lexie would start dating, she told Tek that she still loves Abe. Jennifer overheard Celeste's prediction that she and her baby are going to die, then picked up a staticky phone call and swore she heard Jack's voice. Bonnie wondered if Patrick knows more about the apparent messages from Jack than he's letting on. Sami shocked Kate by apologizing and handing over her last piece of damaging evidence - but her change of heart hid evil intentions. Coming: John's behavior troubles Kate.

General Hospital

Nikolas broke into Jason's penthouse, and Jason realized someone was there. Alexis was appalled to realize she had kissed Ric after drinking too much. Lucky turned away from Skye after getting a letter,

When John followed Natalie with the cash, he was stunned to see Paul and pulled his gun on him. Riley was tempted to turn in a paper he bought on the Internet but opted to do his own work. Unfortunately, Jen accidentally handed in the paper and Riley was accused of cheating. Roxy and Rex hired an arsonist to torch Foxy Roxy's so they can collect the insurance money. Coming: Kevin and Todd are at odds again.

It's the 'Days' of the living dead

By Paulette Cohn
© Zap2it

It's been nine long months of murder and mayhem in Salem, but on May 24, fans of "Days of Our Lives" discovered that reports of the deaths on the daytime drama had been greatly exaggerated.

"I didn't kill anyone," declares "Days" head writer James E. Reilly. "I have not destroyed the history of the show, I'm not trying to create a whole new soap, and I haven't killed off all the old characters. This is something that I don't think has been done before, but if it has, who cares? It shakes up the lives of everybody in Salem."

Reilly makes clear that the killing spree was only the first part of a much bigger story line. Now he will be exploring who is responsible, why, and whether the dearly departed can be rescued.

"It is a question of absolute power running amok," Reilly explains. "It's as if someone had all the power in the world and wanted to mix up everyone's lives with whom they came in contact."

As a longtime viewer of "Days," the only character that comes to mind with that kind of power is the evil Stefano DiMera (Joe Mascolo). And before fans write to tell me he is on "The Bold and the Beautiful" so it can't be him, I bet you dollars to Alice's donuts that when "Days" graciously allowed Lauren Koslow (Kate) to return for a visit to her old soap ("B&B"), "Days" required quid pro quo for its arch villain.

As for the irate fans, Reilly says, "If fans had fun in terms of having their hearts in their throats by seeing their favorite people die and go on that roller coaster ride, now that they are back and alive, it is as if viewers are on the top of the hill for the next big thrill."

Dear Paulette: Could you please tell me if Matt LeBlanc from "Friends" and Christian LeBlanc from "The Young and the Restless" are brothers? They look so much alike. Thank you. -Peggy, via Internet.

Dear Reader: Christian is the second oldest of eight children. Matt LeBlanc is not one of them.

Monster House
It isn't really in Australia, but the dwelling that gets a makeover in the new episode "Outback House" easily could be. Many elements Down Under are incorporated into the new layout, including a snack bar shaped like a boomerang, and a halved Land Cruiser whose windshield has been replaced with a plasma television. Additionally, shrimp — or anything else destined for grilling — can be tossed on the new "barbie."

He sends in a black sheriff (Cleavon Little) to scare the racist populace away, but of course, it isn't that easy. Movie: Mulholland Falls

Inspired by the true exploits of the so-called "Hat Squad" — an elite, nicely attired 1950s group of Los Angeles cops — director Lee Tamahori's ("Die Another Day") visually stylish 1996 drama casts Nick Nolte as the leader of that team. The large cast of familiar faces also includes Melanie Griffith, Chazz Palminteri, Michael Madsen, Treat Williams and John Malkovich.

7:32 p.m. on 6-NBC

Come to Papa

Karen (Jennifer Aspen) takes Tom (Tom Papa) up on his challenge to get both of them out of a party his parents are giving in the new episode "The Pep Talk." Her lack of skill at fibbing quickly becomes apparent. Tom tries to get the players on a Little League team to step up their game, so that Blevin (Steve Carell) will reconsider his decision not to sponsor the squad anymore.

8 p.m. on 6-NBC

Will & Grace

James Earl Jones guest stars as himself in "Me and Mr. Jones," as Jack (Sean Hayes) lands a role in an off-Broadway play starring the multiple Tony Award winner. Unexpectedly, Jack gets more attention from the director than Jones, who then seeks Jack's advice on acting. Will and his mother (Eric McCormack, Blythe Danner) want to end their roommate arrangement.

8 p.m. on 19-PBS

Frontline

A different slant on the war on terror is provided by "Son of al-Qaida," which profiles the children of Osama bin Laden and one of their friends. In an interview with journalist Terence McKenna, would-be suicide bomber turned informant Abdurahman Khadr talks about the view he had of bin Laden in the days when Khadr was a playmate of the terrorist leader's youngsters.

2004 MTV Movie Awards

Did Jim Carrey and Jennifer Aniston share the past year's best screen kiss in "Bruce Almighty"? Or was it Oscar winner Charlize Theron and Christina Ricci in "Monster"? Such burning questions are answered at this event, hosted by Lindsay Lohan ("Mean Girls") and taped the previous weekend at the Sony Pictures Studios in Culver City, Calif.

Friday Best Bets

7 p.m. on 38-WB

Reba

Aware of Brock's (Christopher Rich) allergies, Kyra and Barbra Jean (Scarlett Pomers, Melissa Peterman) put a stray feline in the attic in "The Cat's Meow." The ladies don't count on having allergies of their own that kick in: Reba (Reba McEntire) and Brock shower Jake (Mitch Holliman) with ever-bigger gifts in competing for his loyalty.

7 p.m. on AMC

Movie: The Andromeda Strain

A virus that virtually decimates a small town's population sends a team of ace scientists into action in a remote underground lab in director Robert Wise's tense 1971 version of Michael Crichton's best seller. Arthur Hill, David Wayne, Kate Reid and James Olson play the disease experts trying to solve the crisis before it escalates into a full-scale, nationwide plague.

7 p.m. and TNT

Movie: Domestic Disturbance

John Travolta has a knack for playing blue-collar characters, as he again proves in director Harold Becker's ("Sea of Love") no-frills 2001 melodrama. Travolta stars as a divorced father worried about his young son (Matt O'Leary), who is frightened of his new stepfather (Vince Vaughn), a man with a deceptively charming veneer. The boy's mother (Teri Polo, "Meet the Parents") just thinks her ex-husband is jealous.

7:30 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC

Married to the Kellys

Tom (Breckin Meyer) brings trouble home after he makes a new pal (guest star Eddie McClintock, "Friends") in "Tom Makes a Friend." The man's wife (guest star Tracy Metro) is someone Susan (Kiele Sanchez) detested when the women were in high school — making things tough at best when the two couples get together.

8 p.m. on 38-WB

Grounded for Life

Claudia and Sean (Megyn Price, Donal Logue) take advantage of a gift certificate for a massage session at home in "I Think We're Alone Now." The experience turns out to be less relaxing than they anticipated. Lily (Lynsey Bartilson) attends the winter formal with Brad (Bret Harrison), whose dance moves leave something to be desired.

9 p.m. on 6-NBC

Las Vegas

Sam (Vanessa Marcil) tries to orchestrate a reunion between a high roller (guest star Michael Paul Chan) and his trouble-prone daughters (guest stars Rebecca Lin and Jaymee Ong) in "Year of the Tiger." The gathering is threatened by an assassin, sending Ed and Danny (James Caan, Josh Duhamel) on a manhunt. Mary (Nikki Cox) oversees a mass wedding.

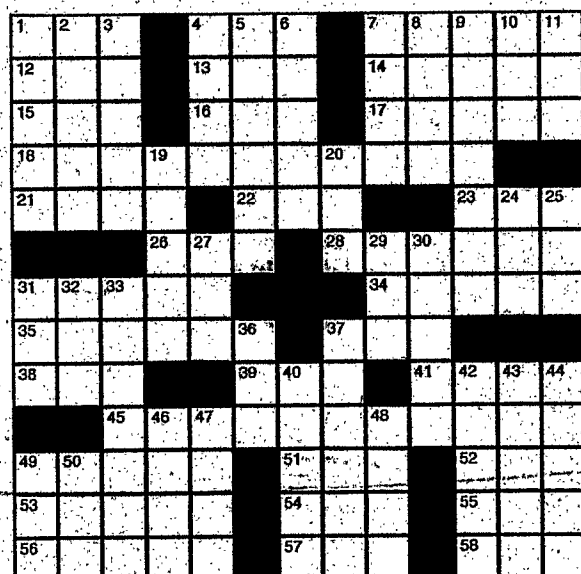

Donal Logue, Megyn Price

(Ratings for each film begin with a "star" rating - one star meaning "poor," four meaning "excellent" - followed by the Motion Picture Association of America rating, and then by a family-viewing guide, the key for which appears below.)

STARTING THIS WEEK (New releases):

"MYSTIC RIVER": A superior drama of raw emotion and quiet power, director Clint Eastwood's version of the Dennis Lehane best seller boasts Oscar-winning performances by Sean Penn and Tim Robbins. They star as childhood friends drawn back together by a present-day tragedy that re-energizes memories of a past trauma. A shocking murder forces the two men, and their policeman peer (Kevin Bacon), to relive a nightmare that has continued to haunt them. Co-stars Marcia Gay Harden and Laura Linney also are excellent. DVD extras (on "deluxe" three-DVD version): theatrical trailer; audio commentary by Robbins and Bacon; "making-of" documentary; interview with Robbins, Bacon and Eastwood from PBS "Charlie Rose" program; Bravo "From Page to Screen" episode; soundtrack compact disc.  (R: AS, P, V)

"ALONG CAME POLLY": Ben Stiller again trades on his patented sad-sack-romantic screen persona in this reasonably amusing comedy, casting him as a freshly dumped newlywed who reconnects with a free-spirited peer (Jennifer Aniston, very engaging if also very close to her "Friends" image) from his childhood. His built-in caution - and her pet ferret - make him wary of pursuing a relationship with her. Debra Messing ("Will & Grace") plays Stiller's wayward spouse; Hank Azaria, Philip Seymour Hoffman, Alec Baldwin and Michele Lee also appear. DVD extras: theatrical trailer; "making-of" documentaries; audio commentary by director John Hamburg; deleted scenes; outtakes; alternate opening; photo gallery.  (PG-13: AS, P)

"PLAYMAKERS: THE COMPLETE FIRST SEASON": ESPN leaned towards its entertainment side with this ensemble drama, the sports network's first foray into scripted television (which wasn't renewed for a second year, possibly because of NFL complaints). The saga follows the mostly off-the-field happenings of members of a pro football team coached by Mike George (Anthony John Denison, "Crime Story"). His charges include a cocky running back (Omar Gooding), a graying veteran (Russell Hornsby) and a rising defensive star (Jason Matthew Smith). DVD extras: audio commentary by cast and crew members; "making-of" documentary.  (Not rated: AS, P, V)

"QUANTUM LEAP: THE COMPLETE FIRST SEASON": The clever fantasy-drama series, which had a loyal following during its 1989-93 run on NBC, makes its DVD debut in a three-disc set. Scott Bakula ("Star Trek: Enterprise") stars as Sam Beckett, a scientist accidentally thrust into a perpetual trip through time that places him in the life - and body - of another person of another era. Each "leap" sends Sam into another as he tries to return to his own place and time, guided through his adventures by hologram Al (Dean Stockwell). DVD extras: "making-of" documentary; interviews with Bakula, Stockwell and series creator-producer Donald P. Bellisario; episode introductions.  (Not rated: AS, P, V)

"LOVE LETTERS": Passionate, free-spirited artist Melissa (Laura Linney, "Love Actually") shares lifelong correspondence and a bittersweet friendship with relatively conservative Andy (Steven Weber, "Wings"), who has sacrificed passion for politics. Veteran filmmaker Stanley Donen ("Singin' in the Rain," "Charade") made his TV directing debut with this moving 1999 drama based on A.R. Gurney's popular two-character play.  (Not rated: AS, P)

"THE PERFECT HUSBAND: THE LACI PETERSON STORY": Following his ferociously atypical performance in "Out of Time," Dean Cain again steps away from his former image as television's Superman in this drama - first shown earlier this year by USA Network - about a much-reported murder case. Cain plays Scott Peterson, the California man accused of killing his wife, Laci, and their unborn child; Dee Wallace Stone co-stars as Sharon Rocha, Laci's mother.  (PG-13: AS, P, V)

COMING SOON (Upcoming releases):

"50 FIRST DATES" (June 15): Originally co-stars in "The Wedding Singer," Adam Sandler and Drew Barrymore are reteamed in this comedy set in Hawaii. (PG-13: AS, P)

"SPARTAN" (June 15): A troubleshooter (Val Kilmer) tries to recover the U.S. president's kidnapped daughter in this melodrama from writer-director David Mamet; William H. Macy co-stars. (R: AS, P, V)

"THE STATION AGENT" (June 15): A short-stature man (Peter Dinklage) finds unexpected camaraderie when he attempts to begin a new life in New Jersey. (R: AS, P)

Bravo lets its hair down with premiere of 'Blow Out'

By Kate O'Hare
© Zap2it

"I don't know if you got the vibe yet," Los Angeles hairstylist Jonathan Antin says, "but I am in no way, shape or form going to ruin your hair."

In the midst of doing a haircut/interview for his six-episode Bravo series "Blow Out," premiering Tuesday, June 8, Antin requests a break in the questioning.

"I tell you to turn off the recorder," he says, "because I don't want to give you a bad haircut. If I love your hair, you're really going to like your hair. You want me to love your hair before you go. If I love it, you're going to be nuts about it. It's important to me."

"This is what I do. This is all I do, so I have to make it as good as I can make it. Because otherwise ... I'm not a person who plays golf. Hair's a big deal, and it's a huge deal to me. If you're in the center of pain, at home crying over somebody, if you wipe your eyes off and look in the mirror, and your hair looks great, you're going to notice."

It's this passion and dedication - along with the tattooed Antin's chiseled, dark good looks and considerable charm - that caught the eye of producer Ben Silverman, who, with partner Mark Burnett, previously turned New Yorker Rocco DiSpirito into the chef America loves to love (or loves to hate, depending whom you ask) in NBC's "The Restaurant."

"I loved the movie 'Shampoo,'" Silverman says, referring to the 1975 sex farce starring Warren Beatty. "I thought the idea of following a straight, Lothario-kind of rock-star hairdresser as he went about trying to grow his business, or go from the middle tier to the 'A' tier would be exciting television."

"Jonathan Antin is a real star, whether it be with brush and scissors or behind the camera. The guy has an amazing presence and charisma and sex appeal."

"Blow Out" chronicles Antin's efforts to open a sister salon to his current West Hollywood operation. This time, Silverman partnered with "Big Brother" producers Arnold Shapiro (whose mother was a hairdresser) and Allison Grodner.

"The idea of helping to do a television show about an occupation that I grew up in was intriguing to me," Shapiro says. "It made my mother very happy, by the way."

As to the inevitable comparisons between DiSpirito and Antin, Shapiro says, "They're artists who have put themselves in an entrepreneurial position, but they're still primarily artists. But they didn't crack up; they didn't go to the hospital; they didn't hit anybody."

"I love the fact," Silverman adds, "that they both named their businesses after themselves. It's Jonathan Salon: Beverly Hills, and it's Rocco's on 22nd. It shows you the kind of personalities they are."

A native of Beverly Hills, Calif., (but, he points out, he grew up in an apartment, not a mansion), Antin wanted to shake things up in his swank hometown.

"I'm spending a good portion of my life savings on my salon," he says. "Beverly Hills is equally as competitive as West Hollywood, which is kind of a newer vibe."

"I'm bringing a different thing into Beverly Hills. There's no one like us in Beverly Hills. We're the black sheep. But we are coming in with nothing but love. The salon is on Wilshire Boulevard, directly across from Saks Fifth Avenue and Neiman Marcus. I walked by this space probably 2,500 times as a child."

Antin is in the thick of production at Jonathan Salon: Beverly Hills. The crew trucks are squeezed into a narrow side street, with monitors showing comprehensive views of the new salon - including Antin tucking into a sandwich for lunch in his unfinished office area.

The part-industrial, part-loft-style space - with concrete floors and tool chests used as hairstylists' stations - was barely finished in time for its opening party. Even now, things are still a little rough.

"It's definitely taking me longer," Antin says, "to finish everything that I want done than I thought. There's still a lot of work to do. But listen, if I was at West Hollywood right now, as exhausted as I am, I'd be asleep upstairs in the office. I wouldn't be able to cut hair. But the city vibe is here. It's that little B-12 shot."

The show also promises drama, whether from clients and their makeover stories or from stylists, which include the also-tattooed up-and-comer Brandon Martinez.

"One's a younger version of the other," Silverman says. "They're both single, straight and sexy and like chicks, so there's a competitive streak. There are a lot of the archetypal relationship issues between alpha dogs."

"Brandon's a character," Antin says. "But I'm not a player-hater. I like the boys around. I'm a guy's guy."
